Nazi Blitz On Moscow
Being Planned

(BULLETIN)

MOSCOW, Oct. 6.—Successful Soviet counter-attacks along the entire front from Leningrad to the Crimea were credited today with inflicting mounting losses on the Nazi and pushing them back in several sectors.

Following official Russian estimates that the Germans have lost 3,000,000 men as against 1,128,000 Red army soldiers lost since the war began, a Soviet high command war communiqué reported destruction of 54 German tanks, 30 planes and 90 lorries in the past 24 hours.

Repulse New Attacks

The Russian news agency Tass said the defenders of Leningrad had repulsed new attacks by reinforced Nazi troops and had counter-attacked to regain two or three miles at some points.

The same news agency also stated the 123rd German division and the 89th regiment had been routed after a seven-day battle in an unspecified sector of the front.

Tropical Hurricane Veers Around Miami

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 6.—A 120-mile tropical hurricane—the worst to strike the Florida coast in five years—roared in upon the state shortly after dawn today from the Bahamas, missed Miami by about 15 miles, and headed westward across the lower peninsula.

Although Miami missed the full force of the storm, winds in this popular winter resort were estimated unofficially at close to 100 miles per hour.

Escape Major Damage

Torrential rain accompanied the tropical storm, but so far as could be gleaned from first reports, Miami and its environs escaped any major damage.

The weather bureau warned that increasingly heavy rain was likely to follow in the wake of the hurricane.

If the storm remained on the path it followed as it crossed the

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 6.—The Brazilian naval radio station at Fort Aleza today received a message stating an open boat with 16 shipwrecked survivors had been found off the east coast of Brazil.

The position given in the message was 9.17 south, 34.58 west. The message requested that aid be sent to the scene.

Further details were not immediately available.

Tanker Survivors To Arrive

Meanwhile the American steamers West Nilus and Del Norte, carrying 35 survivors from the torpedoed American-owned tanker I. C. White, were expected to reach Rio de Janeiro tomorrow morning.

Officials of the United States consulate will board the ships before they dock to open an inquiry among the survivors regarding the attack which sent the I. C. White to the bottom.

(Editor's Note: CBS picked up a Rome radio broadcast which said the I. C. White was "torpedoed by the Germans.")

The official report will be dispatched to Washington before correspondents are permitted to interview members of the tanker's crew.

Deny Report Naval Battle Off Brazil

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 6.—The Brazilian Ministry of Marine today officially denied persistent reports that a violent naval battle had taken place off Macao, at the southern tip of Brazil.

Rumors of the battle first appeared in the Rio de Janeiro O Globo, which quoted fishermen at nearby points a sheering gunfire and the apparent smoke of battle.

Authoritative Brazilian sources would not comment further on the ministry's announcement. One official said he could not "confirm or deny" the reports.

No afternoon newspaper in Rio de Janeiro, however, carried a "follow up" story on the alleged battle today, indicating the rumors may have been without foundation.

Price Freezing Bill Presented

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Rep. Gore (D) Tenn., a member of the House banking and currency committee, today introduced a sweeping substitute price control and limitation bill, which would virtually freeze all prices, wages and rents at today's level.

Claiming wide support for the measure, Gore announced he would move that the committee adopt his bill in place of the less drastic administration measure.

Gore's bill in the main follows the line recommended by Bernard Baruch, World War economics czar, who proposed a blanket ceiling over all rents, wages and prices. The measure would:

Provide for ceilings on all wholesale prices, wages and rents, except rents in rural centers of less than 10,000. The ceiling would be based on prices prevailing during the week beginning today; fix ceilings on farm prices at parity, instead of at 10 per cent above parity as proposed in the administration bill; and permit the government to take all profits above 8 per cent on the amount of any defense contract.

Hotel Strike In Pittsburgh Not Settled As Yet

See Little Chance Of Quick
Settlement Of Strike Which Closed Hotels

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 6.—Little chance of a quick settlement of the strike which has closed eight leading hotels in Pittsburgh was seen today as A. F. L. leaders advised striking employees to make application for unemployment compensation.

Over the week-end the strikers reaffirmed their stand for a 20 per cent increase in wages "or nothing" Friday night they turned down a management offer of an 11 per cent increase and pointed to the situation in Washington, D. C., where a similar strike was called off after the hotels granted pay raises varying between 10 and 25 per cent and granted the union a closed shop.

Strike leaders and representatives of the Pittsburgh Hotel association were scheduled to meet again today in another effort to iron out their differences. John Bookjans, A. F. L. local president, said before the meeting:

"We are holding out for 20 per cent. If the management comes in this morning with anything in the way of an offer, of course it will be considered."

EBBETS FIELD, Brooklyn, Oct. 6. Bleacherites peeling off shirts and ground-keepers turning on hoses to soak the infield today gave a mid-summer touch to Ebbets field, where the fifth, and possibly the last, game of the world's series of 1941 was to be played this afternoon.

So mild was the temperature, so hot the sun, that soaking of the infield to lay the dust was ordered—a procedure more suitable to the Fourth of July than an allegedly autumnal day.

The mercury (in the shade) was beyond the 82 mark at 11 a. m. E.S.T. and rising steadily. Shooting for the 90 degree reading forecast by the weatherman. But that was strictly in the shade, and those bleacherites fanning themselves with scorecards and newspapers and sitting on the hot planking of the bleacher seats were right out in the sun, sweating and sweating helplessly but doggedly determined withal to be there rooting when the final out was called.

Freak Heat Wave In State

(International News Service)

As the freak heat wave continued throughout most of Pennsylvania today, weather forecasters held out hope that cooler weather would smash the heat within 24 hours.

Crops, already scorched by a four-week drought, withered in the ground as the hot-blasts swept across farm lands.

In many places, perspiring residents made the most of the water in dangerously low streams.

Highest temperature yesterday was at Harrisburg where the weather bureau reported the mercury had soared to 97—hottest weather Harrisburgers had experienced after September 12 in the 53-year history of the local weather station.

Philadelphians sweltered in a 95 degree temperature and many were forced to seek relief at the seashore. Western Pennsylvania temperatures were slightly lower with Pittsburgh reporting a maximum of 84 degrees.

Bus Delivery Here Delayed

Defense Priorities Prevent Delivery This Month As Planned

SET DECEMBER 6 AS DELIVERY DATE

Because of national defense and the government having priority rights, superseding those of the Shenango Valley Motor Transportation company, busses ordered by the company for operation in New Castle will not be delivered until December 6, it was stated today by the Vice President and General Manager William H. Muldoon.

According to Vice President Muldoon, a bonafide order and in which priority rights were asked and granted, was placed July 31, the same day as the Pennsylvania Public Utilities commission at Harrisburg handed down an order granting the company the right to operate busses here.

Previous to this, it was desired to expedite negotiations toward the abandonment of street cars and substitution of busses. Vice President Muldoon realized that with national defense gaining headway the government's needs would probably delay the needs of the company.

This was pointed out by attorneys for the company when a Public Utilities commission examiner took testimony on the application in Pittsburgh. Immediately after the commissioner, July 31, granted the application the bonafide order was put in and priority rights requested.

The priority was granted and delivery was promised for October 10. At that time Vice President Muldoon indicated busses would be operating here this month. However, later because of additional government needs, delivery of the busses was set back until November 15. Today word reached the bus company executive that because of the government's further needs, delivery has been delayed until December 6.

STUNTMAN STILL ON ROCKY PEAK

By HAROLD B. THORPE

International News Service Staff Correspondent

SUNDANCE, Wyo., Oct. 6.—The "Siege Of Devil's Tower" today went into the sixth day, with the rescue of Stuntman George Hopkins from the 865-foot turret of the National Monument resting on the capable shoulders of four youthful Alpinists from Dartmouth college.

After spending his fifth night in his sky-prison during a storm which lashed northeastern Wyoming with snow and rain, the Texas dare-devil who parachuted to the top of the monolith last Wednesday morning to win a $50 bet calmly awaited the attempt of the four mountain-climbers to ascend the steep sides of the volcanic formation which rises like a huge tree stump.

The sides of the tower were made even more treacherous by rain and snow freezing to them. Continued cold weather was forecast for today.

The Dartmouth group was composed of Jack Durrance, Merrill McLane, Chappell Cramer and Henry Coulter, who spent much of the summer climbing peaks in northwestern Wyoming.

For Durrance the climb up the basalt spire was familiar. He and a companion scaled the tower in 1938, becoming two of seven persons to reach the top during the last decade.

Judge Brandeis Taken By Death

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The nation today mourned the death of Louis Dembitz Brandeis, retired justice of the supreme court.

The 84-year-old jurist, who retired Feb. 13, 1939, after serving 23 years on the nation's highest court, died last night without emerging from a coma into which he lapsed Saturday night. He had been critically ill from a heart attack since last Wednesday.

Funeral services for the great champion of liberalism, whose legal acumen and humanitarianism exerted profound influence upon national affairs, will be strictly private. A memorial service will be held after the funeral.

Prisoner Exchange May Get Under Way

(BULLETIN)

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The British hospital ships which will transport badly wounded German prisoners to Dieppe and return with injured British war prisoners will leave the British port of Newhaven tomorrow, it was announced officially today.

By KATHLEEN HARRIMAN

International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEWHAVEN, Eng., Oct. 6.—Delayed over the week-end by a hitch in negotiations, the proposed exchange of badly wounded British and German war prisoners under a brief mercy truce finally may get under way at midnight tonight.

That at least was the general belief in Newhaven today as two British hospital ships lay in the harbor ready to depart for Dieppe on the Nazi-occupied French coast the moment the signal is given.

Authorities here said they thought the hospital ships Dinagat and St. Julian will leave Newhaven with the midnight tide, lay offshore until dawn, then cross the channel under conditions of daylight—with the pre-arranged truce in effect over the trans-channel lane to Dieppe.

After delivering the German prisoners at Dieppe, it was stated, the two ships will return with the exchanged British prisoners at dawn Wednesday, according to this plan.

Former Epidemic Of Paralysis Here Ended October 6

Dr. William L. Steen today issued a bulletin in which he expressed the opinion that the mild wave of infantile paralysis cases which appeared here has been eradicated. According to the city health officer, it was exactly 24 years ago today that the last case was reported in the 1917 epidemic.

In 1917, forty-six cases were reported, the first July 9 and the last October 6. Five deaths resulted.

In 1917 the epidemic was general here, and a quarantine was established. Schools did not open until September 24.

Children under 16 years of age were excluded from churches, Sunday school, public schools, parks, playgrounds, bathing pools and movies, according to Dr. Steen.

At 5:30 p. m. Saturday, they were called to 8 East Home street, where grease about the motor of an auto owned by Alex Copple caught fire from an overheated engine. There was no loss.

TWO SMALL FIRES

Firemen were called out twice over the week-end for small fires, the motor on a refrigerating unit at the Union Market at 2 East Long avenue, burning out at 6:40 o'clock this morning, causing damage of around $50.

At 5:30 p. m. Saturday, they were called to 8 East Home street, where grease about the motor of an auto owned by Alex Copple caught fire from an overheated engine. There was no loss.

Campaign To Raise $65,000
To Be Launched At The Castleton

EXPECT 250 WILL ATTEND MEETING

Dr. G. S. Bennett To Act As Toastmaster—Enthusiasm
Shown For Chest

Two hundred and fifty New Castle citizens will launch the 1941 Community Chest drive for $65,000, the minimum required to maintain operations of nine social and welfare agencies here through 1942, at a rousing "kick-off dinner" in The Castleton tonight at 6:30.

This year's campaigning will continue until October 25.

The campaign organization, under the leadership of the general chairman, Judge W. Walter Brahm and vice chairman, Mrs. John E. Elliott and Dr. G. S. Bennett, has completed plans for an intensive and thorough coverage of all citizens who want to give their support. An executive committee, made up of Clare B. Book, L. B. Round, Fred L. Rentz, Dr. E. F. Henderson, Mrs. Grace Phillips Johnson, Mrs. Robert A. Eckles, Reuben J. Elliott and Rev. J. Calvin Rose, is backing up the chairman and division leaders in the drive.

Large Crowd Expected

Indications point to a capacity crowd of workers at the rally meeting tonight. Several features have been developed to bring out the high points of the campaign in an interesting and unusual fashion. Percy P. MacNab, former resident of New Castle, and now a successful business man of Los Angeles, will be present and has consented to lend his abilities as a song leader to the occasion. The toastmaster will be Dr. Bennett, and speakers will be Mrs. John E. Elliott, M. G. Matheny and General Chairman Brahm. Most of the solicitation cards and campaign material will be distributed prior to the meeting.

Agency boards are being called upon to take an active part in the campaign, and co-operation among all groups in the community has

Berlin Claims Ark Royal Hit

(BULLETIN)

BERLIN, Oct. 6.—The 22,800-ton British aircraft carrier Ark Royal has been torpedoed by an Italian submarine, the Berlin radio reported from Rome today.

(Editor's note: The Germans have on several occasions claimed to have sunk or damaged the Ark Royal. Each time, however, the British have furnished evidence to show the vessel still in action.)

The attack upon the Ark Royal, it was said, took place after the recent battle in the Mediterranean in which Italian ships and planes were said to have damaged one British battleship and sunk or damaged three cruisers as well as a number of smaller ships.

Former Member, Now Back,

New Castle Rotarians today bestowed a "senior membership" upon DeLace Cole, for years a member of the New Castle club and of late a member of the Greenville Rotary organization.

Cole, who has again taken up residence here, has a 20-year record of Rotary service here and is one of the most prominent members of the service club. He was also active in Greenville club affairs.

His new classification was conferred at the regular monthly business meeting of the club in The Castleton this noon.

ARREST STRANGERS

There was only two arrests here last night. The persons arrested were being held today upon an open charge of investigation. One of the parties is from Chicago and the other from Cleveland. A suspected offense against morality caused the arrests. Detectives are investigating the previous police history, if any, in the prisoners' home cities.

Where are those old October frosts, where are the chilly winds, these days are like mid-summer ones, and see the golfers' grins. They take their game just like they did when August sun was hot, and laugh as they ask where is fall, for autumn's on the spot. Tomatoes ripen on the vine that we thought had no chance, and folks are wearing lighter suits and light brown ice cream pants. It is a most peculiar fall, since summer's gone away, but we will pay for all of this, its eighty four today.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Unseasonable warm weather, humidity, or something, caused one of the hottest October Sundays on record yesterday. In most church audiences scores of fans were kept going by members of the congregation as they sought some relief from the oppressive heat during the morning.

According to information from the postmaster this is "Letter Writing Week" throughout the nation. The matter of writing letters to friends, relatives, boys in the army or navy, etc., is being stressed.

Strange, but the letter box standing in front of the post office in the public square receives a large amount of mail daily. Persons drop their letters in the box at the curb instead of going into the post office and mailing them.

Sort of a miniature "Sky-line Drive" is provided by the recently improved highway leading up over the long hill, starting at the bridge over the Shenango river in Pulaski, Pa Newc has discovered.

Two fast-flying army pursuit planes attracted considerable attention as they passed over the city Saturday afternoon, headed directly towards the Cleveland airport. According to the local airport, the planes were cruising at about 325 miles per hour.

Whether or not frost has anything to do with coloring of leaves in the fall may be a moot question

Industrial basin, the Crimea and the Black sea port of Odessa—dealing out staggering blows to the Russian southern armies.

(The German news agency DNB said one panzer division broke through a Russian fortified position in the eastern Ukraine and "overran" Russian artillery emplacements, destroying or capturing 23 guns including 14 long-range pieces.

In the Donetz basin, said DNB, 20 Russian tanks including some loaded with munitions were destroyed and long stretches of track were wrecked by Luftwaffe bombing attacks.)

Blitz Attack on Moscow?

(The London Daily Herald said there were indications of a possible blitz attack against Moscow by the Nazis. A Stockholm dispatch to the paper stated this may take the form of a wide, pincer maneuver from the northwest and from the south.

(The British radio in a broadcast heard by CBS quoted the war correspondent of the Italian newspaper Gazzetta del Popolo as reporting that "100 Russian warships are shelling German positions along the coast" on the Leningrad front.

(The same war correspondent was quoted as estimating Leningrad's defenders to number 2,000,000 men and as adding that the Russians "are using countless fighting planes" of the most modern type against the Luftwaffe.

(Another British broadcast said: "In order to substitute for the heavy German losses in the Luftwaffe during the fighting in the east, the Richthofen air squadron has now been called up for service there.") been reported. Industrial workers particularly have shown increased interest in the Chest this year, and in practically all plants will be solicited at work, thereby minimizing the work of the Chest solicitors.

CHEST WORKERS MEET TONIGHT TO START '41 DRIVE

Success Important

Agencies participating in the Community Chest are the New Castle and Jamestown hospitals, the Margaret Henry home, the Boy and Girl Scouts, the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., the Salvation Army and the City Rescue Mission. Their work, covering all phases of charitable and social needs, directly affects the welfare of every citizen of the city and surrounding area.

The Chest campaign represents the only opportunity for all the citizens each year to do their share in insuring the continuation of their work. During the past few years they have been forced to cut their budgets to the bone, but they have managed to maintain their efficient service without serious curtailment.

Much depends on the result of this year's drive. The agencies face the probability of sharply increased costs, with little possibility of increased income from other sources. Unless the Chest can be filled to overflowing, the agencies will be faced with a serious financial problem.

Chest workers are starting the campaign with a determination not only to meet but exceed the quota by a substantial margin. It is up to the citizens of New Castle and vicinity to put the job across.

east Florida coast, it would pass over the sparsely settled Everglades region, weather observers said. Inland South Florida contains a number of small villages, but the countryside in general is not heavily settled.

The hurricane center was moving across Florida at about 20 miles an hour, in the direction of the west coast.

Tampa May Be in Path

There was every chance the storm might change direction or break up before crossing the peninsula, and no immediate alarm was felt in Tampa or other districts in its indicated path. Should the center sweep more directly west, for example, it could pass out over the east gulf.

In the vicinity of Miami and the Florida keys, all lowland areas had been evacuated by late last night. Miami was plunged into darkness at 2:30 a. m. E. S. T., when all power was cut off to prevent danger of fires from broken "hot" wires. The city took great care to be ready for the worst and had been batted down to the last board in the event the hurricane caught it dead center, as appeared possible for a time.

Driven by the terrific winds, the sea pounded so high and hard over the causeway between Miami and Miami Beach that it was impassable. Miami waterfront streets were washed by tremendous waves.

Everywhere throughout the threatened districts, "trouble shooting" crews and Red Cross emergency relief units were mobilized for action long before the advance of the storm.

Could Be Storm Center

Center of the storm, the worst to strike the Miami area since the disastrous Labor Day hurricane six years ago, struck the Florida coast about 15 miles south of the city, with the center of the hurricane passing over the little town of Goulds.

A survey of the storm area along the Florida east coast indicated there were no casualties and very little property damage. Numerous plate glass windows were shattered and many signs were torn loose from the moorings as the wind

TIMES CHANGE

We often think back to the days when the man who lived in the community, that everybody knew as the (Undertaker). He was known far and near, respected, took care of his work in a dignified, Christian manner, and with a great deal of sympathy. It was not known as a profession then, but the work was done with a little more dignity than the ordinary business.

NOT SO TODAY: It has grown into a profession, and one which a great many of the older men are ashamed of, as the dignity is gradually being edged out, by things being done that would have been a disgrace in the olden times, in order to get the business.

We often wonder what the public thinks of the funeral director today. There must be something back of the scheming, when funeral directors will come out and brazenly offer free chairs, free ambulances, free anything, in order to be called in to take care of the sacred work of burying their loved ones.

Sometimes when the older (undertaker) thinks of these things, it causes him to blush.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph.D.

BEHAVIOR IN SUNDAY SCHOOL.

A director of religious education said to me the other day that he was distressed about the problem of conduct in the Sunday school.

Although trained teachers for the Sunday school would greatly improve child behavior there, some children who are sent to Sunday school would not respond well to the best methods of teaching. They had never learned the alphabet of restraint at home.

As the gentleman referred to said, "some of the children seem to have no regard for property; they shamelessly abuse the furniture, hymnals, and even the Bibles. If any effort is exercised to restrain them they may be found to be sons of some of the officials of the church."

If my observations are correct, the young roughnecks of Sunday school are more often found in the churches of the well-to-do communities than in those of communities of lower economic levels, and all too often the offender is a child of some church pillar.

Whether he is or not, the problem of the boy who has little or no regard for property or others' rights often is a nuisance in the Sunday school. Such a lad may receive at Sunday school more than good training, since he there can enjoy being a social nuisance, even interrupting public worship. If he comes from a favored home he would do less harm to others and himself if he stayed home and limited his destruction and annoying activities to his own house and playground. His parents should not burden the Sunday school with him.

For the welfare of society it is too bad that such a child has not in earlier years learned some basic inhibitions.

Incidentally some wholesome early restraints are essential to effectual religious education. The child who, while grace is said at the table, does not habitually exercise a reverent attitude, is learning not only to mock religion, but is learning to become a bad citizen. The child who habitually is a hoodlum in the Sunday school is getting even there good elementary training for crime.

Dangerous Neglect. Religious attitudes presuppose some self-restraints, and the absence of reasonable inhibition during religious exercises makes religious training for the offending child not only dangerous to his morals, but to the morals of the other children there.

Day school teachers and Sunday school teachers would like to see more children taught in early years at home the A. B. C. of reasonable restraint.

A group of prayers for little children may be had by writing me at 235 E. 45th St., N. Y. City, enclosing self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

The World and the Mud Puddles

NO SO "WORSE." All citizens of these United States doubtless wish that this war was over. If they are sensible, they would also wish that it was over with a total defeat of the Axis powers. The administration in Washington has done its level best to frighten all of us so much so that when you pick up the newspaper from day to day, you are apt to say that the situation is desperate, or that the situation never looked worse.

Perhaps—but the perspective is not so frightful if you will look back the last two years at the news headlines, which have temporarily commanded your attention since this war began. Many events seemed really crucial at the time. None were. Otherwise the war would be over and Hitler would be exultant. Instead, he's probably a darn sight more worried about the over-all war outlook than you are.

Not so long ago the news spotlight was on Greece. Before that it was Greece. Before that Yugoslavia, the German drive across Libya to the border of Egypt, the British ship losses (now sharply declining), the Nazi air attack on England and the much threatened invasion which never came off and probably never will, the fall of France and so on back to the start of the nightmare.

Each change is like a new inning in a kind of deadly baseball game, except that the side with the most runs doesn't win automatically after nine innings. In a true sense the game is tied; for certainly Britain has not been defeated; Hitler is not victorious; and whatever happens to Leningrad, Moscow, Odesa or even to the Red Army itself, there are many more innings to come.

Consider some of the following items broadcast by German radio: "We are inclined to see in the British determination to hold out longer a terrible piece of military ignorance."

"Gigantic air battles have occurred almost daily. But these air battles are not fought over Germany or France or elsewhere on the Continent. The Churchill lines have begun to sway even before a German soldier has set foot on the soil of the British Island."

And this from Rome: "The Italian population knows that the total defeat of Britain is only a matter of a few days now."

That was more than a year ago. And Axis boasts then had a more plausible ring than they have today. Save some of your worries for the headlines of next month and next year and the year after. The world is a very big place; and Hitler will add to the considerable list of "Big Shots" who learned that it could not be mastered.

Simple for today: As helpless as a humorist whose family and relatives resent kidding.

MEANING OF THE BARBER'S POLE? The red and white striped barber's pole dates back to the time when a barber not only cut hair and shaved his customers but also practiced minor surgery such as blood letting and wound dressing. It was not until 1745 that the barber-surgeons (as they were called) were prohibited from practicing surgery in England. It was abolished in France about the time of the revolution and in Germany around 1809.

In the original symbol, a brass basin hung from the striped pole. It is generally agreed that the stripes represented bandages; the basin, the vessel for receiving blood. Only the pole is used in America but the pole and basin may still be seen in parts of Europe.

Good Taste

By E. A. Patent Office

"I have recently spent my vacation at the home of my fiancée. I have learned that she is a sulker, that she is rarely agreeable until the middle of the morning. What can I do to break her of this unfortunate habit?"—Frank.

Answer: Someone has spoiled her into thinking that the world is her oyster. When next she appears in a sulky mood, greet her with "Hello, grouchy! When will you condescend to smile upon us underdogs? Or would you prefer that we all disappear for the day and relieve you from boredom? Sulkers suffer from an overdose of self-importance. She probably began life as a cry-baby to whom some doting person ran whenever she whimpered. Today, scientific baby care demands that cries due to temper or peevishness be absolutely ignored. And if ignored instead of humored, they soon realize the futility of their ill-nature. No one has the right to be disagreeable. So do not hesitate to let your fiancée know you have noticed this trait and that you strenuously object to it. If she persists in these moody spells, flee from her forever, unless you are willing to take on a lifetime of sulks which you will be forced to humor and thus multiply until your life is no longer fit to live.

Question: Just when should the groom present his gifts to his attendants?

Answer: At the bachelor dinner. If there will be no bachelor dinner, the presentation might be made at any time before the wedding . . . or at the rehearsal.

What's What At A Glance

Rumor Says Mussolini Doesn't Dare Quit
Nazi Censorship Hides Much Of Troubles
Death Sentences Imposed Are Enlightening

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Nazi-imposed censorial regulations make it impossible to tell very accurately how much trouble Herr Hitler is having, to make his conquered European areas stay conquered, but there's a growing belief in official circles in Washington that he's having a lot of it.

This impression isn't based on reports directly from the at least temporarily vanquished countries, because such news can't get out from them.

It's based on Berlin's own accounts of the death sentences the Nazis are executing and the repressive orders they're issuing. Naturally the shootings, decapitations, curfews and threats of still more of 'em are intended to intimidate, and they can't do it unless they're given publicity. That evidently is why Berlin broadcasts them.

And the conclusion is that they wouldn't be so numerous and obviously intentionally ferocious if the Nazis didn't consider a tremendous dose of 'em necessary to counteract the amount of incipient revolt that they can't help recognizing.

Any one of the little democracies he's overrun, taken separately, can, of course, be kept squelched by Herr Hitler with no difficulty what ever. Policing France, Holland, Belgium, Denmark, Norway and all the Balkans, with the Czech part of Czechoslovakia in particular, is mentioned, though, as being quite a contract, taken all at once, for a Fuehrer whose hands already are pretty full with Britain and Russia. Not to mention the substantial help they're getting from Uncle Samuel.

What's more, rumors keep coming that Italy isn't overly reliable.

True, Count Carlo Sforza, former Italian foreign minister and now an anti-Fascist exile in the United States, recently warned Americans that Signor Mussolini surely never will split away from his partnership with Adolf. Not, the count says, that Benito necessarily likes playing second fiddle to Herr Hitler, but that he knows he's dependent upon German support for his own position of authority in Italy—that if he tried to go it alone, he'd be overthrown in short order.

Yes, but there are hints that Adolf's getting too busy elsewhere to continue supporting Italian Fascism much longer, in which event, maybe the Italians will attend to Benito's overthrow independently of the Fuehrer.

Incidentally, Count Sforza mentioned as a likely successor to Benito, if the Italian anti-Fascists do abolish the latter. He won't succeed him as a Fascist duce, though. Sforza's whole record is democratic and he's as anti-Hitler as they make 'em.

Spain's another problem. Caudillo Franco's a dictator. In getting to be one, after a stiff fight with the Spanish republicans' preceding government, he had the help of Fuehrer Hitler and Duce Mussolini and consequently was pro-Axis (not militantly but pro enough to be rather promising) when the present muss started. But would his gratitude be proof against an Axis crack-up? The best guess is that he'd think first of his own interests.

Well, conquered Europe doesn't act like admitting that it's conquered permanently. Italy's nothing like 100 per cent reliable.

How about internal Germany? Isn't there any discontent there with Herr Hitler? Would the Nazis themselves still stand pat for him if it became evident that he'd bitten off more than he can chew as endanger the entire Fatherland?

Those are questions that can't yet be answered, because the censorship there DOES function completely. If there are any anti-Hitler Germans (Continued On Page Six)

The Great Game Of Politics

Conflict And Confusion

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.

THERE has been little stealing of public funds in the three Roosevelt administrations. Relatively, they have been free from dishonesty, although certainly a record has been set in the exploitation of high public position in ways which clash with any lofty conception of public morality and can be reconciled with none save the lowest standard of political ethics.

ESPECIALLY offensive is the brazenness of the White House favorites, such as Mr. Tommy Corcoran, who after years of furious assault upon the greed of businessmen, sizes the opportunity presented by a great national crisis to turn law-year-lobbyist and line his pockets with fat fees from the interests he formerly held up to scorn. New Dealers assert that this administration has been clean and it is true there have been no major scandals. Nevertheless, vastly more money has been wasted by the Roosevelt regime in the past eight years than the total of all the public stealings since George Washington.

NOR is the wasted money the worst feature of an administrative incompetence, which is largely concealed from the people by the personality of the President, the power of his publicity machine and the great New Deal enthusiasm of the millions who live, partially or wholly, on Federal funds. Much worse is the disappearance from the government of any semblance of efficiency and the evaporation of all sense of proportion and restraint. No one not in the administration itself, or in position to observe, can comprehend the degree to which judgment and common sense have been banished from the councils of those in authority.

THERE are many men in the administration and in the defense set-up who recognize these things and are appalled at the complacent muddy-mindedness which permeates the whole business from top to bottom, finding its most unpleasant expression in the most important Presidential New Deal aides and intimates. The simple truth is there is no such thing as clear thinking in this administration. Confusion of thought is its outstanding characteristic. Particularly has this been so since the country began to arm for defense. If there was confusion before, the great problems created (Continued On Page Six)

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt appeals for the community mobilization for human needs: "It is true that more people are at work in our land today than ever before. It is true that our national income is rising. But it is still true that millions of our fellow citizens are still undernourished, ill clad and poorly housed."

NEW YORK — Wendell Wilkie, speaking on the same radio program with President Roosevelt, also asks contributions to mobilization for human needs: "We acknowledge the obligation as part of our free franchise to see to it that even the least fortunate human beings find comfort, health and a decent self-respect in this country; that those who cannot take care of themselves are cared for."

WASHINGTON — James A. Moffett suggests a solution of the gasoline and oil supply situation: "Let the petroleum industry run its own business. Then millions of American consumers of petroleum products can forget about curfews, rationing, shortages and everything else pertaining to the petroleum industry, including the petroleum coordinator's office."

He telephoned the police; when detectives arrived they recognized him at once as a notorious sneak thief.

He had been arrested a number of times for gaining admission to fashionable weddings as a reporter and stealing valuables while the celebration was in progress.

"But what made you suspicious of him?" the host was asked. "Why," the answer came, "he immediately took his hat off when he came into the house." "No real reporter would do that!"

Perhaps the man's low opinion of newspapermen's manners was unjustified. But you are usually judged by your bad traits, not by your good ones.

BIRTHDAYS OF FAMOUS AMERICANS

(Compiled by Encyclopaedia Britannica)

OCTOBER 6

1809—John Willis Griffiths, naval architect, at New York City. The "Rainbow," which he built and launched in 1845, was the first renowned clipper, and it introduced a new era in shipbuilding. He suggested the ram for the bow of warships and was responsible for a series of inventions, including bulge keels to prevent rolling, a timber bending machine, and triple screws. 1848—Allen McLane Hamilton, physician, at Brooklyn. He practiced in New York City as a specialist in diseases of the mind and nervous system. His essay on "Diseases of the Lateral Columns of the Spinal Cord" won the American Medical Association's first prize in 1879. Later he took up medical-legal work and as an alienist appeared in more than 100 murder trials where insanity was an issue. 1868—George Horace Lorimer, editor, at Louisville, Ky. His greatest achievement was development of the Saturday Evening Post, of which he was editor-in-chief from 1899 to 1937. His "Letters from a Self-Made Merchant to His Son" is an effective and interesting exposition of the philosophy of getting on.

GUSTAFSON-VINING WEDDING IMPRESSIVE

In the parlors of the First Presbyterian church Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, a beautiful wedding ceremony was performed, uniting in marriage Miss Elizabeth Ruth Gustafson, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. C. A. Gustafson, Fairmont avenue, and missionaries on furlough from India, and Warren Clifford Vining son of Mrs. Warren Vining of Wheaton, Ill., the impressive single ring service being witnessed by a throng of guests, filling the church to capacity.

The service was read by Dr. Raymond V. Edman, president of Wheaton College with Dr. J. J. McIlvaine, pastor of the church, assisting.

For the occasion, the altar was beautified with an arrangement of white pompons silhouetted against a green background of ferns and palms. Glowing stately lighted cathedral candles in branching candelabra completed the setting.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attractive in a gown of ivory tulle, made to length with train, Leg-O-Mutton sleeves and a full length veil caught with a crown of orange blossoms. She carried an arm bouquet of white lilies, and her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. J. Robert Brown of Youngstown, O., as maid of honor, wore a powder blue tulle floor length gown, patterned along Colonial lines. A short veil of matching blue net fell from her crown and she carried pink roses. Bridesmaids included Lois Marian Smith and Miss Virginia Ramsey of this city, and Junior bridesmaid, was Miss Betty Lou Vining of Wheaton, sister of the bridegroom. They wore identical gowns of dusty rose taffeta, similar in style suggesting the quaint motif and carried old fashioned arm clusters of yellow roses and mums.

Rev. John Eichorn of Bridgeport, Conn., and pastor of the Bethel Congregational church of that city, served as best man.

Those ushering were, Carl Vining of Wheaton, Ill., brother of the bridegroom; J. Robert Brown of Youngstown, O., Louis Southern, cousin of the bride and William Comstock, both of New Castle.

Wedding music was contributed by Miss Mary Louise Kirkpatrick who presided at the organ, playing "I Love You Truly," "Liebstraum" and "Because." Lohengrin's March announced the approach of the bride.

She also accompanied Mrs. James Rugh who sang "O Perfect Love" and "Beloved is My Lord."

A congratulatory period followed and later, a reception was held at the home to the bride's parents where a buffet supper was served.

The nuptial theme in pink and white tones, predominated in the arrangement of the large table.

Later in the day, the couple left on a Southern wedding trip, and upon the conclusion of their journey, they will go to Kansas City, Mo., where both will enter Seminary training in preparation for missionary work. The bride is a graduate of Greek Memorial School of Ootacamund, India, and for the past three years, attended Wheaton College.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Wheaton College, and will continue his Missionary training in Kansas City. Out of town guests included Mrs. Warren Vining of Wheaton, Ill., Misses Edith and Hildur Johnson of Providence, R. I., Rev. and Mrs. John Eichorn of Bridgeport, Conn., Rev. and Mrs. George Morgan of Huntington, Pa., Mrs. Milne of Toronto, Canada, Mr. and Mrs. C. Rosey of Pittsburgh and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Gustafson of Cochranton, Miss E. B. Couger of Scranton, Mr. and Mrs. Fay Earl of Meadville, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Waddington, Mrs. Wade Smith and Mrs. G. Alexander of New Brighton, the Rev. and Mrs. Edward Balph of Youngstown, O., Charles Gustafson of Cochranton, the latter the bride's grandfather, Charles D. Gustafson of Harrisburg, and Dorothy Davies of Gary, Ind.

"Start Sooner" Urged As Slogan To Aid Safety

(Special To The News)
CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—"Start Sooner!" That is the slogan for the first phase of the Emergency Safety Campaign called for by President Roosevelt, and the National Safety Council believes it will save lives if motorists heed the advice.

The Council points out that congestion is one of the principal causes for the upsurge in traffic deaths this year. More employment, stepped-up military and industrial activity, more cars on the road and more miles traveled have created this traffic tangle.

Engineers are attempting to meet the situation with special signal timing, rerouting of traffic, staggered work shifts, new by-pass roads and other emergency measures, but such engineering changes take time.

The Council suggests that motorists can help the situation immediately by realizing that trips now take longer. To complete the trip from home to work on the old schedule now may require excessive speed and chance-taking. Starting sooner will safely compensate for delays.

The "start sooner" idea will feature the opening of the nationwide emergency campaign October 6, the day the National Safety Congress begins in Chicago. The campaign organized by the Council at the request of President Roosevelt, is a drive on accidents of all types that are hindering the national defense program. One hundred and twenty-five national organizations are united in the campaign.

There is too much heart disease in the mind.

Many persons consult heart specialists because they suffer.

Sixty per cent have only imaginary heart disease.

They are not suffering from poor heart action but think they are.

Their mental anguish may be very acute.

They may have a pain somewhere which they believe is in the heart.

Such individuals usually have a pessimistic sort of mind.

They take a melancholy view of their imaginary symptoms.

Physicians dealing with these people must use tact and patience.

People do not like to have their pet convictions destroyed.

"If it isn't heart disease, then what is my trouble?" they ask.

Their trouble is need for guidance to a healthier state of mind.

by an all-out defense effort, under a President who refuses to delegate power, have multiplied that confusion many times. After 18 months there still is no head of the defense machinery, no one man bossing the job, no coordination and little concentration. There has been evolved a general staff, but, despite the high-pressure publicity drive to make Mr. Donald Nelson seem the designated man, there is no real chief of staff.

THE conflict, the feuding and the duplication continue undiminished. Hardly a week goes by without a clash between one set of men going in one direction and another set going in the other. For example, take the question of inflation. There have been so many instances of backing and filling on this subject that they almost have ceased to be news. Perhaps, that is why the amazing conflict last Tuesday between the views of President Roosevelt and his friend, Mr. Marriner Eccles, head of the Federal Reserve Board, attracted so little attention. Simultaneously, they gave utterance to completely contradictory views. Mr. Roosevelt, urging a vast expansion of the Social Security act by which some 40,000,000 more beneficiaries would be created and a great increase in job holders made necessary, asserted that this would act as a deterrent to inflation.

ON the same day, Mr. Eccles declared that "the time has come for all ordinary governmental agencies to restrict their activities," and urged that public works of all descriptions be sharply curtailed. If the government would reduce its financial largess," he said, that would act as a deterrent to inflation. This is a fair sample of the sort of "leadership" the country is getting. Here is an important administration spokesman advocating the restriction of all non-defense governmental agencies as a check on inflation; and here is the President on the same day urging a huge expansion of a great governmental agency, also as a check to inflation.

WHAT is one to think of such conflicts? How are they to be reconciled with reason? Or explained? Or excused? Even if there were not this sharp divergence of view about inflation, the President's plan would seem unwise at this time when the main attention of Congress is riveted on defense and it is in no position properly to pass upon a question of such great importance to our whole economic future as this new Social Security program. Whether it would help or hinder inflation, it would seem a matter for careful study and recommended action at a more normal period. However, there are two things to be said for it—one is that it would vastly augment the Social Security receipts, which the treasury then could use for current expenses; second, that it would extend the "social reforms" of the advanced New Deal element which thinks the emergency should be used for just that purpose. In addition, there is the view of the practical politicians who consider the effect upon the 1942 and 1944 elections of adding 40,000,000 more to the existing 40,000,000 recipients of money under the federal act.

mans and if one of 'em peeps above a whisper, the Gestapo undoubtedly disposes of him in jig time and THAT news doesn't get into circulation. It wouldn't be to Adolf's advantage to let it do so.

That Old Sentiment
Still, there once were quite a few democratic Germans, even back in the Kaiser's day. They used to come over here to live in a land of liberty. Some of their descendants are bundists, but it seems as if there must be a bit of the old-time sentiment yet, in the home country. And it's undeniable that an attempt was made to blow Adolf up with a bomb in Munich a year or two ago. The very Nazis admitted it. It rather suggested a certain amount of dissatisfaction with him.

Now let him run into some very heavy weather! Then what, right at home? Official Washington isn't wholly unoptimistic.

Oldsmobile's 1942 Cars Now On View

Offerings, in Chevrolet Keystone Showroom, Win Public Acclaim

The new Oldsmobile line for 1942—named the "B-44" because it is better looking, better lasting and better built than any offering in the company's 44-year history—is now on display in showrooms of the Chevrolet Keystone Co., 210 West Washington street.

Anticipated little or no change in models, the car comes as a distinct surprise.

Even with government priorities and Oldsmobile's intensive concentration on such defense activities as quantity production of shells for field guns and howitzers, landing gear forgings for bombers and automatic cannon for fighting planes, Oldsmobile has introduced five brand new series of automobiles.

All 1942 models continue to offer the famous Hydra-Matic drive. More than 130,000 Hydra-Matic Oldsmobiles are now in service and have won the approval of owners who have driven an aggregate of over 300,000,000 miles.

The most striking feature of the Oldsmobile "B-44" is the new front end design, which is carried throughout the line. The "double duty" bumper departs radically from all previous design.

Fender styling in all "B-44" models is particularly interesting. Both front and rear fenders are smoothly streamlined as a part of the body contour. Front fenders extend midway across the car doors to accentuate the long, low body lines of the new Oldsmobile models. Running boards on the "Sixty" and "Seventy" series are of the built-in type and are fully protected from snow and ice by the body panels.

During the time the ambulance was out of service for repairs, not a call was received for its use. Because of priority rulings it was impossible to get a needed part for about two weeks.

COLLECTS LICENSE PLATES

CANTON, O.—W. M. Scott is willing to play his part if and when Uncle Sam requests motorists to toss their old license plates into the national scrap heap for additional defense metals, but Scott will have to do a lot of tossing. And it will leave him a bit saddened. Scott has a collection of old automobile license plates dating back to 1914. Every succeeding year, instead of throwing the old tags away he tacked them to his garage walls. "Well, it was a nice hobby while it lasted," he says.

MID-SUMMER HEAT FOR GAME

their belts, the Yanks only need today's game to cop the championship. The Brooklyn Dodgers, seeking to stay in the running, assigned Whit Wyatt to take over the hurling. It was Wyatt, a 22-game winner, who won the Dodgers' only series contest.

Broadway bookies, convinced that yesterday's 7-10-4 loss had just about sealed the fate of the National league champs, were quoting the Yanks at 8-10-5 to win today's game and as high as 10-1 to walk off with the series. Fair weather was promised for today's game in Ebbets field.

Yesterday's hectic game, witnessed by 33,813, saw the Yanks emerge victors after all but losing the game 4-10-3. The Dodgers were ahead by that score in the ninth with two out, none on, and the count two and three on Tommy Henrich. Relief hurler Hugh Casey then fanned the Yankee batsman, but Catcher Mickey Owens muffed the ball, and Henrich safely reached first.

Then the Yanks turned on the heat. Joe DiMaggio singled and Charlie Keller followed through with a double and the Yankees were on top 5-10-4. Bill Dickey then walked and Flash Gordon finished off the Brooks with a double that drove in two more runs. The badly shaken Dodgers went out one-two-three in their final turn.

Air Photo of RAF Raid on France

This, says London, is a sample of the daylight air raids now being staged by the RAF on Nazi-held targets. This photo was taken from a Blenheim bomber over a town in occupied France and shows bombs bursting on what the British describe as power station workshops, a chemical factory, railway sidings and ships lying in the Seine River. The British have intensified their raids as U. S. planes reinforced the RAF. (Central Press)

Coal Industry Heard On Canal

Hearings On Ohio River To Struthers Canal Are Being Concluded

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Representatives of the coal industry were called before the house rivers and harbors committee today to conclude opposition testimony to the proposed $50,000,000 Beaver-Mahoning river canalization.

The group was headed by F. F. Estis of the National Coal Association, which opposes the projected 35-mile canal from Rochester, Pa., to Struthers, O.

Rep. Mansfield (D) Tex., committee chairman, warned witnesses that all hearings on the matter must be concluded tonight. Sometime later the committee will vote on the project in secret session, with proponents seeking to have it sent to the floor in the huge omnibus rivers and harbors bill which already includes such projects as the St. Lawrence seaway and the Florida ship canal.

Members conceded it will be a "stiff fight" both in committee and on the floor.

Opponents of the canalization who in the main have charged the idea is uneconomical and unfeasible, that it would threaten to put out of business "adequate" railroad facilities, and that it would destroy many industries along the banks of the two rivers, had their third day before the committee today.

When they complete their case proponents will be allowed some time for rebuttal. They have contended in earlier testimony that the canalization is necessary to insure cheaper and adequate transportation facilities through the industrial area.

'FAG BAG' PLAN

IS EXPECTED TO CUT FOREST FIRES

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES—The United States Forest Service's new-fangled "fag bag" will work.

Psychology says so.

And psychology is right, according to reports coming from Angeles National Forest where the red muslin sacks were handed out recently for the first time in an effort to halt automatic smoking in dangerously-dry brush and timber areas.

Smokers entering the forest were required by rangers to put their packages of cigarettes in the bags, which close with a drawstring and bear a pledge tag for smokers to sign.

There were indications on every hand that the bags were preventing automatic "lighting up," judging by the remarks of persons leaving the forest after using the sacks.

All persons making the novena will gain plenary indulgences by going to communion on the day of the Feast of the Immaculate Conception, and by praying for the intentions of the Holy Father. NO SHORTAGE OF DOCTORS EXISTS

IN THIS FAMILY

(International News Service)

NEWTON, Mass.—Is there a doctor in the house?

If anyone asked that question in the Tucker home in Auburndale a father, mother, daughter and three sons all could respond "yes." They're all doctors.

Presenting—Dr. Francis F. Tucker, 70, his wife, Dr. Emma, their daughter, Dr. Margaret, and three brothers, Dr. William, Dr. Arthur and Dr. Francis, Jr.

For the past 13 years the mother and father have been in missionary service in China. The daughter, graduate of Rush Medical School in Chicago, also served in China. She had not seen her parents until a family reunion after a lapse of six years.

MAN JAILED FOR AIDING 'FRIEND' COMMIT SUICIDE

DENVER—James H. Shears, Jr., 41, railroad section hand, recently was sentenced to 60 days in jail by a Denver judge after he had pleaded guilty to one of the most bizarre charges in the city's history—aiding his "best friend" to commit suicide.

The prosecution charged Shears with boosting Merrill R. Nolin, 44, a fellow worker, to a fourth-floor window sill in Denver's historic Windsor hotel so Nolin could leap to his death.

Shears told the court Nolin's decision to "end it all" came at the climax of a five-day drinking spree the two indulged in after they had been let out of their jobs. Nolin was unable to mount the window ledge by himself, Shears said, so in answer to his plea for help, he lifted him up by the seat of the pants and watched him crash to his death on the pavement 50 feet below.

All reptiles have teeth suitable only for grasping prey; the teeth are useless for crushing victims.

Home Accident Prevention To Be Given Stress

School Children Of Lawrence County Will Assist In Campaign Here

Prevention of home and farm accidents, reported by the National Safety Council as causing more deaths and injuries in this country annually than automobiles, is the purpose of the 7th annual campaign for the discovery and removal of accident hazards, to be launched October 7 as part of a nation-wide undertaking of the American Red Cross.

The school children of Lawrence County will take part in this campaign, it was announced today by George Reid, Chairman of Accident Prevention of the Lawrence County Chapter.

"These boys and girls," he said, "will be serving as members of a national youth army of 10,000,000 pupils of public, private and parochial schools, who will seek the cooperation of their families in making a careful examination of their homes and surroundings to find and remove all possible causes of accidental death and injury."

"These hazards in the home are a serious menace because they are commonly unrecognized. Last year 3,000 persons lost their lives, and 4,700,000 more were injured—approximately 140,000 of them permanently—as a result of home accidents. The decrease in the home accident death total, from 37,000 in 1936 shows what can be done in this direction through cooperative and persistent effort."

The Red Cross check list, which includes a list to parents suggesting the formation of discussion groups in accident prevention, enumerates the common home accident hazards under the following type of accident headings: Falls and Broken Bones, Burns and Scalds, Asphyxiation and Suffocation, Electric Shock, Bleeding and Infection, Poisonings, and Gun Shot Wounds. Discussing the farm accident phase of the prevention campaign Mr. Reid stressed the fact that "more persons are killed while at work in agricultural pursuits than in any other occupation."

"Last year," he said, "there were more than 100,000 accidents on the farms of America and 4,300 of them were fatal. It is apparent that there is no one who has greater need for being accident-minded than the farmer. He is usually far removed from doctors and hospitals, and the nature of his work is hazardous."

Danger In Gathering Wrong Specie Sumac

At this season of the year, many folks go out and borrow from the woods, the beautiful colored leaves, to be used at their homes for decoration.

Owen Fox desires to call the attention of these persons who are attracted by the brilliant red of the Sumac. There is much danger in the gathering of Sumac leaves, as some species of this plant are poisonous. Care should be taken not to gather the leaves or berries of the yellow or swamp Sumac, as handling of this plant is very liable to cause serious skin irritations.

The safe Sumac, is the Staghorn variety, that grows in high dry places, and bears berry pods that are of a very dark red, carrying small downy hairs all over the berries. Mr. Fox states that it is well to observe closely and be sure, before harmful results occur.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Oct. 6.—Several Democratic leaders are secretly afraid that Gov. Arthur H. James will include in his special session call, when and if it is issued, a recommendation for the reduction of taxes.

"We'd certainly be on the spot, if he did," commented one of them. "Under the circumstances there would be only one practical thing to do and that would be to go along with his recommendation."

After urging it ourselves at the last session, we could hardly vote against it now. . . . The political implications were plain, with a gubernatorial campaign looming up.

Governor James has already stated, however, that he has no intention of including in a special session call any subject but that of congressional reapportionment, unless some urgent reason requires it.

A special committee of 10 assemblymen and senators is now holding weekly meetings in an effort to work out a compromise plan for redistricting the state. . . . When it does and has the approval of the leaders of both parties, thus assuring its passage by the legislature, Governor James has promised to call a special session. . . . Lack of a new reapportionment plan will force the state to vote for 33 congressmen at large in the 1942 elections.

The general wage increase decreed by Governor James for some 15,000 employees is expected to act as an impetus to private management and labor. . . . The governor frankly admitted that state employees receiving less than $20 a week were "underpaid" and that they were entitled to an increase because of the rising cost of living. . . . The increase failed to satisfy most state employees, however, as it was pointed out that it only amounted to $1.15 a week. . . . In addition, lower bracketed state employees now must pay a federal income tax to which they were previously immune.

The threatened walkout of liquor store clerks, if it eventuates, will test the right of state employees to take strike action. . . . Calvin Coolidge became nationally known when he smashed a strike of Boston police while governor of Massachusetts. . . . The right of public employees to go on strike has been hotly debated and the issue never legally settled. . . . State liquor store employees are demanding a four-dollar increase in their $23 a week salaries. . . . They have threatened a two-hour protest to enforce their demands.

A reminder that Pennsylvania is not the only state which is having difficulty reapportioning its congressional districts comes from New York, where a committee similar to Pennsylvania's is attempting to prepare suitable legislation. . . . The New York committee's work came to a halt for a time when $38,000 given the federal census bureau for a breakdown of 1940 citizen and alien population figures proved inadequate. . . . The shortage has been relieved from a $52,500 fund set up for that purpose. . . . The Pennsylvania committee is operating without a legislative appropriation, but if a special session is called to enact a reapportionment measure, it is estimated it will cost the state around $300,000.

Grangers Will Dine On Tuesday

Diamond Jubilee Will Be Commemorated With Program At Epworth Church

AROUND 450 ARE EXPECTED PRESENT

Arrangements are complete for the Diamond Jubilee banquet to be held at Epworth Methodist church Tuesday evening by the granges of Lawrence county. Wendell Walker, chairman of the ticket committee, reports that all tickets have been sold, which indicates that a crowd of 450 is expected for the dinner.

This Diamond Jubilee celebration is one to commemorate the 75 years of continuous accomplishments of the grange. Beginning with the farmer and his family, and centering around the rural community, the grange springs from the grass roots and grows and serves from the bottom up, not from the top down.

There are four logical organization steps that make the grange ideally suited to serve agriculture: (1) The subordinate grange, or local unit of the organization. It is built around a logical community center and includes those interested in rural life in this area. The subordinate grange elects its own officers and controls its own affairs in all local matters. (2) The Pomona grange is usually formed by the subordinate granges in a given county or district. It is the next ritualistic step after the subordinate grange. This unit of the grange is primarily interested in county affairs and in developing ritualistic, social, educational and legislative programs in a county-wide way. (3) The state grange is a delegate body composed of representatives of the subordinate granges in the state. In addition to looking after the educational and fraternal interests of the organization, the state grange is the agency to safeguard the farmer's interests in taxation, marketing and legislation. At the annual session of the state grange, the sixth degree is conferred, and the state program for agriculture is adopted. (4) The national grange is the highest unit of the Order of Patrons of Husbandry and the one which defends the farmer's interests, in national legislation, besides providing agricultural leadership in the social, economic and cooperative aspects of rural life. A spokesman of millions of earnest people who dwell in the open country, the national grange is often and effectively heard.

The juvenile grange is a further addition to this set-up, which takes care of the needs of those in the community under 14 years of age, and is a valuable aid in the training of rural youth for maximum usefulness.

The grange has a membership of more than 800,000 in the United States. It is organized in 37 of the states comprising nearly 8,000 local or subordinate units.

The grange cooperates with the church, school and other local institutions that aim toward better living.

The victims were identified as: Verno Shimko, aged 16 years, Mike Chido, aged 17 years, and Tony Barletta, aged 17 years, all of Homer City.

The driver of the truck, James Recupero, aged 21, and his helper, Harry Vinton, aged 18 years, both of Indiana, escaped injury.

September Proves Dry, Warm Month

Deficiency Of Over An Inch Of Precipitation Is Noted Locally

While there was a deficiency of only 1.14 inches of rainfall locally during the month of September, it occurred during the last three weeks of the month, resulting in one of the driest spells that has been noted since the drought of 1930, according to the records of the U. S. weather bureau, at Harrisburg. There was an excess here of 3.5 degrees per day in temperature, which aggravated the dry condition.

The records of the local observing station, reveal that precipitation fell on only four days, during the month, the total rainfall being 1.87 inches, most of which fell on one day.

The mean maximum temperature for the month was 82.5 degrees, the mean minimum, 53.2 degrees, and the mean or average, 67.8 degrees. The highest temperature was 95 degrees on the 9th and the lowest was 35 degrees on the 27th, the greatest daily range being 45 degrees on the 22nd.

The total precipitation was 1.87 inches, days with 0.1 or more inches being four; days clear, 19; partly cloudy, 11; and cloudy none.

The normal precipitation for September is 3.01 inches, the deficiency being 1.14 inches. In September, 1940, there was a deficiency of 1.02 inches, almost as much as last month, but the rainfall was more evenly distributed. The normal mean temperature for September is 64.3 degrees, an excess of 3.5 being shown this year, while in September of 1940, there was a deficiency of 2.1 degrees.

NEW CASTLE HIGH DEFEATS SHARON 19 TO 0

Jupiter Pluvius Fails To Throttle New Castle Eleven

New Castle High "Red Hurricane" Hangs Up 18th Straight, And Fifth Of Current Season, Against Sharon Saturday Night; Bobby Lee, Tommy Parou And Bob Stewart Score Touchdowns; Sharon Threatens But Few Times; Crowd Is Estimated At Close To 6,000 Despite Rain.

INSPIRE of the rain, a soggy ball and slippery turf a hard driving New Castle High "Red Hurricane" football team hung a 19 to 0 defeat on Sharon High Tigers Saturday night at Taggart Stadium as in the neighborhood of 6,000 fans looked on. It was the 18th straight win for the locals and their fifth consecutive victory of the 1941 season.

The game was postponed Friday night due to the rain and it turned out that Saturday night was not a whole lot better, although it did quit raining before the game ended.

Stewart Scores First

New Castle scored its first touchdown midway in the first period, after a sustained drive down the field from the New Castle 44 where Peters had recovered a Sharon fumble. It took 12 plays for New Castle to get the coveted final marker. Lee and Stewart did all of the ball lugging, reeling off four first downs. Stewart finally plunged the ball across from the 2-yard strip.

The extra-point attempt was no good. It was not long until New Castle had another touchdown marked. Gunn kicked off to Locnikar of Sharon following Stewart's touchdown. The Sharon back took the ball on his own 21 and returned it to the Sharon 34-yard line. Monson failed to gain. Locnikar picked up a yard.

Bobby Lee Tallies

Locnikar kicked and the ball was downed on the New Castle 47 yard line. Robert E. "General" Lee on the first play after the punt picked his way through tackle and was away for the goal line with the Sharon players chasing him, and for 53 yards Lee stayed out in front to tally the second touchdown. Stewart's extra-point conversion was again blocked. New Castle 12, Sharon 0.

Gunn kicked off to Sharon following the second touchdown. Moran took the ball on the Sharon 30 and came back to the 45 before being dropped. The first period ended at this point.

Locals Threaten Twice

New Castle threatened midway in the second period when Bobby Lee dashed to the Sharon 10-yard line after a 27 yard gallop following a pretty pass Lee to Parou. On an attempted Statue of Liberty play Lee to Doster the latter dropped the ball and it was recovered by Moran of Sharon on the Sharon 13 yard line. Locnikar kicked out of danger to New Castle back on the Sharon 38 and two plays by Lee both nice runs for first downs put the ball on the Sharon 10 again as the first-half ended.

The ball was hard to handle due to the rain and fumbling was quite frequent. Too, it made it hard for the punters, but Lee and Locnikar did the best they could.

Sharon High Threatens

Gunn kicked off to Sharon to start the third period. Moyer took the ball and returned to the Sharon 43 for a nice run after having caught it on the Sharon 15. After two Sharon plays Locnikar kicked to Lee and the "General" returned it to the New Castle 33 from the 15 yard line.

Three New Castle plays failed to gain very much and Lee punted to Monson on the Sharon 35 and he was back to the 46 before being downed by Scarazzo. It was at this point that Sharon turned on the "heat." Locnikar made a yard, and then Monson ripped off a first down, the first one for Sharon on the New Castle 41. Bock made eight yards and then Locnikar made the second first down for Sharon on the New Castle 30-yard line. Locnikar carried it twice and made another first-down on the New Castle 19.

The New Castle line stiffened as the Tigers prepared to score and after three Sharon plays had gained eight yards, the visitors had to give up the ball on downs on the New Castle 10-yard line, the closest that the Tigers were to get to New Castle's goal line for the remainder of the evening.

Lee picked up a first down on the first play after New Castle had taken possession of the ball. Doster made four and Lee reeled off another first down on the New Castle 37. Doster and Lee picked up nine yards just as the third period ended, giving New Castle the ball on the New Castle 46.

Parou Scores On Pass

Stewart picked up the needed yardage for a first down for New Castle on the New Castle 49-yard line for the first play of the fourth and final period. Lee lost a yard. Lee passed to Parou and it was incomplete. Lee tried a pass to Doster but it was knocked down. Lee then punted to Monson of Sharon on the 20 and he was downed on the Sharon 30.

Three Sharon plays failed to gain and Gasch kicked to Lee on the New Castle 35 and he was downed on the New Castle 43. But there was an offside play and they did it all over again. Locnikar punted this time and Doster took it on the Sharon 49-yard line.

Lee to Doster a nice pass gave New Castle the ball on the Sharon 32 first down. New Castle was penalized 15 yards for holding back to the Sharon 46-yard line. Lee tried a pass to Zubkowsky and it was no good. Lee then uncorked a beautiful pass that Tommy Parou, running hard, took and sped for the goal line, to mark up the third and final touchdown of the game. Stewart's extra-point try was good this time. New Castle 19, Sharon 0.

Currie Looks Good

After the third touchdown, Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh started to replace his tired regulars with subs, and uncovered incidentally another tip-smoking young halfback by the name of Currie. This lad looked real good on several journeys through the Sharon line.

The game ended with New Castle having the ball on the New Castle 43 after gaining possession of it as Peters recovered a Sharon fumble.

New Castle hung up 15 first downs to 4 for the Sharon Tigers. It was a hard game for the kind of a night that it was. The New Castle line from end to end played a fine game. Lee and Stewart were the backfield standouts, although this youngster Norman Peters did a swell job of blocking and tackling at his quarterback post.

In the Sharon backfield Locnikar and Monson did the best ball lugging when they got going. Moran and Blank were the standouts on the line.

New Castle's sixth game of the current season takes them on this coming Saturday afternoon to McKeesport.

Movie Endings, Upsets Spell Football Parade

Hollywood-like endings, goal line stands that were reminiscent of the French at the Marne and an astoundingly big number of major upsets summarize the second weekend of another wild and woolly collegiate football extravaganza.

Now that every rah-rah team has hoisted the cover, 10 elevens stand out like a sore thumb. Navy and Fordham loom as the best in the east; Notre Dame and Minnesota rate the call in the west; Tulane, Texas, Texas Christian, Clemson and Duke share the south and southwest honors with Stanford and southern teams in the far west.

Briefly, here's what happened in many of the stadiums from coast to coast Saturday:

Pitt Defeated

Pitt opened against Purdue and came out second best, 6-0. The Panthers marched to the Boiler-maker one in the first but lacked the scoring zip. Thereafter the Panthers gave signs of being a fatigued club. Westminster, conqueror of Carnegie Tech, lost to Slippery Rock 6-0. Tom Carey, New Castle athlete, intercepted a Titan pass in the fourth and legged it 42 yards for a touchdown.

Trailing 10-7 as the game moved into the closing minutes, a veteran Fordham aggregation spurred to nudge a versatile Southern Methodist combo, 16-10. Pennsylvania turned loose a young and inexperienced force against a highly touted Harvard team. By the time the final gun sounded, the Quakers marched all over what was presented to be one of Coach Dick Harlow's best clubs. The score was 19-0.

Yale Wins Thriller

In one of those typical movie finishes, Yale's Eli annexed a 21-19 victory over Virginia's Cavaliers. At halftime, Yale trailed 19-0. Engineering one of the most devastating attacks ever staged by a Yale eleven the New Haveners pushed across the game winning touchdown in the fourth period. Army looked only fair in disposing of The Citadel, 19-6.

Navy proved, without a doubt, that it deserves a place with the greatest teams of the year by ripping West Virginia, 40-0. The Mountaineers outplayed the Middies in the first half but were no match during the caboose end of the fray. Dartmouth squashed Amherst, 47-7, while a fair Princeton club ran over Williams 20-7.

State Loses, 7-0

Extended by a surprisingly tough Brown eleven, Lou Little's Columbia Lions overpowered the Bruins, 13-6. Peeling off a touchdown in the second chukker, an inexperienced Cornell outfit bowled over a highly ballyhooed Syracuse edition, 6-0. Penn State held a veteran Colgate team for three frames before sinking by a 7-0 count. State displayed unexpected strength.

Holy Cross breezed in with a 13-0 win over Providence while Rutgers cakewalked to a 26-0 margin over Springfield. In a typical N. Y. U.-Lafayette battle, the Big Stem gridsters capitalized on a fourth period fumble and went on to win a thrilling 6-0 nod. The major reverse of the day saw Virginia Polytechnic nose out Georgetown by a baseball.

(Special To The News)
SLIPPERY ROCK, Oct. 6.—Slippery Rock State Teachers college capitalized on a fourth period break and thus opened its 1941 gridiron season auspiciously, defeating a sturdy Westminster college team, 6-0, here Saturday afternoon.

The Titans, who surprised the football world a week ago by defeating Carnegie Tech, started off like a whirlwind. Taking possession of the oval on their 13, the Titans ripped off a series of gains. The sustained drive, which covered 80 yards, finally was thwarted on the Rockets' 7.

Misses Two Chances
Westminster lugged the ball within the Slippery Rock 20 yard marker twice but was unable to ignite the scoring fuse. The Rockets were unable to penetrate deep into Westminster territory all afternoon.

As the fourth period got underway, 0-0 appeared to be the eventual result. Then, suddenly, the break came and the Rockets grasped it. Westminster was near the midfield stripe. Felix Demosie wheeled back and flipped an aerial bomb.

Tom Carey, ex-New Castle high star athlete and Slippery Rock center, basketed the pass and got on his high horse. Running like a whirlwind, Carey dashed 42 yards for the only touchdown of the game. Joe Demosie and Glass played a stellar game on the line for Westminster. Tom Carey and W. Romero were the Rockets' stars. Westminster held a 10-3 edge in first downs.

Westminster faces Hiram next Saturday afternoon, away from home.

The lineup:
Slippery Rock: Westminster
Banks, L. E. J. Demosie

Paden, C. Q. Evanoff (C)

Ellwood City-Union Key Football Ports

Ellwood City and Union township will be Lawrence county's key football ports this week.

Early Friday afternoon, about 2,000 excited fans are expected to gather around Union High field to watch Bessemer and Union exchange grid blows as the 1941 County class B championship dash starts.

Union Has Chance
For the first time in too many seasons, so far as Union followers are concerned, the gallant Scotland Lane football machine will trot onto the greensward with an excellent chance of squelching Bessemer's monopolistic hold of the coveted banner.

Since losing to Hubbard, the Bessemerites haven't engaged in actual combat with an opponent. Last week the Cementers were booked to tangle with Greenville. The game was cancelled in the eleventh hour, due to an infantile paralysis ban in Greenville.

The rivals return to the practice field today to map plans for one of the biggest games on the card for either school. With the county championship angle helping to arouse interest, the biggest crowd in several seasons is anticipated. The winner will need only to topple Shenango Township to pocket the bauble.

Monaca at Ellwood
The spotlight will be shifted to Ellwood City Friday night, where the mighty Wolverines play the role of host, entertaining a fighting Monaca aggregation. The clash promises to produce numerous nerve-tangling moments. One of the top galleries of the season will watch the well-coached Ellwoodians perform.

New Castle High packs its mole-skins and takes to the highways, confident of lapping up its third successive class AA WPIAL triumph. The smooth "Canes" next face McKeesport's "Tigers" on Saturday afternoon. The game was originally scheduled for Friday night.

Titans Away, Too
Westminster followers will be denied the privilege of watching the Titans play at home again this week-end. The Washaboughmen, who have performed solely on foreign soil this season, battle Hiram Saturday afternoon.

Shenango Township High's rugged outfit, boasting of two wins in the effort, clashes with Freedom High away from home, on Thursday afternoon. In the thick of the fight for the class B WPIAL coronet, the East New Castle schoolboys can elevate themselves in the title chase by blasting Freedom.

Baseball Game
Is Rained Out

West Pittsburg And Moose Get
Half-Inning Played, Play
Next Sunday

Jupe Pluvius was much in evidence around these parts ever since last Friday and so just to keep in stride he sent down a nice half-hour rainstorm on Sunday afternoon about 3:15 o'clock and the West Pittsburg and Moose game had to be called off due to a muddy field.

The game has been re-scheduled for next Sunday at Marshall Field at 3 o'clock the winner will become the City League champions.

The Moose, the visiting team, had two men up and two out when the deluge struck.

Bands Feature
At Grid Game

Jupe Pluvius may have made Taggart Stadium miserable for the poor football players on Saturday night, but he failed to dampen the ardor of the two fine New Castle High and Shenango bands.

After the Sharon band had taken the field first and played several stirring airs, the New Castle band marched on the field and formed a gigantic clock after which they spelled out 1890 and the band played "The Band Played On." you know this guy Casey who danced with the strawberry blonde, etc.

The clock they charged to 1941 and the band played the New Castle High Alma Mater song. Due to the dampness of the field Miss Margaret Fisher called off the special feature dancing and singing act that was to have accompanied the winding and unwinding of the clock.

Fair And Warmer
For Game Today

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Although the day dawned cloudy, the weatherman predicted "fair" weather and continued warm temperatures for today's fifth game of the World Series. The forecast said:

Early Monday morning partly cloudy. Later Monday, fair and continued warm in forenoon and early tomorrow.

ONE FOR BOOKS
ATHENS — During the 1940 football season, Leo Costa won two games for Georgia and tied another — yet he never played a single minute. Costa kicked three extra points which netted Georgia the two wins a deadlock. All he did was step onto the field, perform his chore and return to his warm spot on the bench.

ST. MICHAELS WIN
The St. Michaels church grade school football team defeated St. Joseph Terriers on Saturday morning at George Washington High field 20 to 2. Next Saturday the St. Mikes will play the St. Marys team, it was announced.
